Find out!

What do the people in your household do when they are scared?

Think!

Do you like to watch TV, and do you watch a lot?

Do you all want to draw figures?

Then keep passing the sheet along.

1. Draw one symbol.
2. Slide it on to the person to your right and draw another symbol.
3. Keep going until you've filled up the sheet!

Keith Haring used his own unique visual language in his art. Some of his symbols - like the dog and the radiant baby - have become legendary, but what do they actually mean?

Discover five of the symbols here, and make up your own symbolic language.

Photo © Muna Tseng Dance Projects, Inc., Art © Keith Haring Foundation
Have you finished drawing your symbols?
Put them all together in one drawing!

TIP!
You could also use a large white sheet. Then you can hang your positive message out of the window.

1. Get a (big) sheet of paper and a black marker pen.
2. Draw a frame! This helps you to get a sense of how big your sheet is.
3. Draw the large figures first.
4. Then fill it up with the smaller figures.
5. Grab a red or yellow marker... Fill your drawing with squiggles and bubbles...

Think!
What was the best mistake you ever made?

1. Get a (big) sheet of paper and a black marker pen.
2. Draw a frame! This helps you to get a sense of how big your sheet is!
3. Draw the large figures first.
4. Then fill it up with the smaller figures.

"I drew the third eye by accident, but people liked it, and now I do too."

Draw a face with a least one part too many.
Think!
What was the best mistake you ever made?

As a child I always drew dogs with my father. They can be very dangerous but also very cute.

Now draw your favourite animal.

With your mother/father/brother/sister, come up with an activity you can do together.

Do!
Plan an activity to make someone happy.

"Is there anything in the world sweeter and more optimistic than a baby?"

Draw someone or something that makes you happy.

Do!
Draw a face with a least one part too many.

© Keith Haring Foundation

The Matrix © BODAR
Foto: (instagram) @shinshihga

© Keith Haring Foundation

"I drew the third eye by accident, but people liked it, and now I do too."

Think!
What was the best mistake you ever made?

As a child I always drew dogs with my father. They can be very dangerous but also very cute.

Now draw your favourite animal.

With your mother/father/brother/sister, come up with an activity you can do together.

Do!
Plan an activity to make someone happy.

"Is there anything in the world sweeter and more optimistic than a baby?"

Draw someone or something that makes you happy.

Do!