

Colours of the rainbow – 17.5.'21

Artist and entrepreneur Jaouad Alloul is an artistic chameleon. He likes to play with the theme of gender and does not shy away from controversial themes. Leaving his comfort zone is an absolute must for Jaouad, which he combines with an unstoppable urge to tell stories. His activism and entrepreneurship come to the fore as he builds bridges between the different identities he holds in abundance.

Neil Akenzua is a pianist who makes music with his heart. Attached to the keys of his piano, he speaks with sounds. He studied at the Conservatory of Ghent and the Music Academy in Malmö, Sweden, with whom he still shares many projects and connections today. Whether he is in Belgium or Sweden, Neil Akenzua knows how to connect people everywhere through the universal language of music.

Rabba is a dancer, choreographer, rapper, composer and event organiser. He quickly made his mark on the Afro world. He has collaborated with artists such as Frenna, Poke and A-Star. He has organised workshops and performances in the Netherlands and abroad. Today, he teaches dance classes at KingdomOfkela School – both online and on-site. He is currently working on the release of his new single, Atomic.

He started out as a dancer, but from his passion for music, DJ Ramos evolved from a dancer into someone who kept the dance floor moving. He plays in several nightclubs in Antwerp and at larger festivals. His style is eclectic and energetic, preferring to bring both old and new sounds to the partying audience.